

MONUMENT TO ITS NAVY CHIEF

Cornerstone of Memorial to Commander Maury to Be Laid June 22.

D. A. C. HELPS RAISE FUND. Is Credited With Beginning Annapolis and Establishing Weather Bureau.

RICHMOND, Va., June 10.—Survivors of the Confederate States navy are expected to take an unusually prominent part in the thirty-second annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, which will be held here on June 20, 21 and 22. One of the most impressive ceremonies incident to the reunion will be the laying of the cornerstone of a monument to Matthew Fontaine Maury, "Father of the Navy."

Navy to Get Inning. "We have done so much for the Confederate soldier," said Gen. W. E. Freeman, chairman of the program committee, "that all of us are agreed that it is high time to pay some particular tribute to the Confederate sailor." Gen. J. Lee Starn, chairman of the reunion committee, and many other prominent veterans who followed Lee and Jackson, Pettigrew and Pickett, and sailed with Sumner and Buchanan, also think that the Confederate navy deserves special recognition in this way. Doubtless the last big reunion of the old South's heroes in Richmond, it was deemed advisable this year to give a conspicuous place on the program to the heroic part played in the war between the States by the Confederate navy.

Gen. Freeman announced that June 22, the last day of the reunion and the date of the great parade and review, has been selected as the time for the cornerstone laying of the Maury monument.

Actual details of this important reunion feature will be carried out under the joint auspices of the Matthew Fontaine Maury Association and the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Task of Raising Fund. The initial movement for the erection of a monument in Richmond to Commander Maury was launched by the Maury Association. The association undertook to raise funds for building and placing this monument when its work was interrupted in 1917 by the entry of the United States into the world war. Since the close of the war the Maury Association found the task of collecting between $50,000 and $60,000 an enormous one and almost despairing of success until the Daughters of the Confederacy, through repeated requests by Mrs. E. E. Moffitt, president of the Maury Association, promised to lend a helping hand by pledging their organization to raise a grand total of not less than $60,000 to build the Maury Monument.

Mrs. Frank Anthony Walker, of Norfolk, was appointed by the Daughters to act as the director in charge of the movement to produce the money. Mrs. Walker surrounded herself with assistants from every U. S. division, which means that every State is now engaged in giving its share toward this fund.

Of the money already in hand, the State of Virginia, by legislative action, appropriated $10,000. Just a year ago Virginia school children gave a total of $1,900. Charles R. Crane, former minister to China, is rated among the largest individual contributors, having pledged himself to give $600.

William H. Slivers, of Forest Hill, Virginia's noted sculptor, has already completed a model of the proposed monument, which has been approved and accepted by the Maury Association.

This proposed memorial will stand on Monument avenue, at Belmont, not far west of the imposing bronze figure of "Stonewall" Jackson. The Maury Association has already marked the spot where the monument is to stand. While the veterans will attend the cornerstone laying, the actual ceremonies will be conducted with Masonic rites by Meridian Lodge, No. 244, A. F. and A. M.

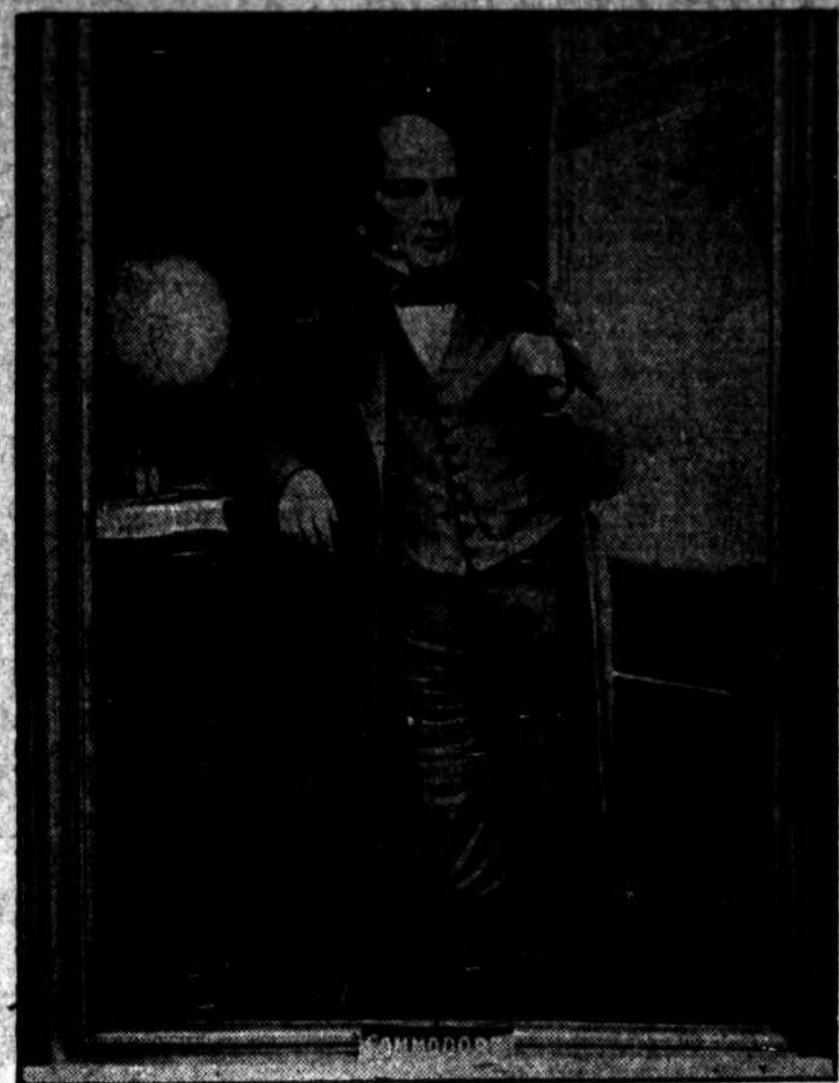

Within the cornerstone every division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will deposit a tiny Confederate flag and a list of its officers.

Mrs. Slivers is said to have modeled a happy conception of the immortal Maury, who will stand on a heroic bronze as the great scientist he was. Proof of the genius which inspired his mind is found in the progressive and lasting nature of his efforts. Out of his book on navigation grew the Naval Academy at Annapolis. He also persuaded American farmers that they would benefit greatly if a system of daily telegraphic reports on wind and weather be sent to a central office and there digested, and out of it grew the Weather Bureau of today.

The Congress of Nations was first assembled to honor Matthew Fontaine Maury for his tremendous scientific discoveries.

Matthew Maury was engaged in peaceful pursuits, such as delighted his great heart, honored by all nations, promoting science and commerce, increasing the benefits of the National Observatory, his astronomical investigations deepening in interest, geographical writings maturing, and he at the zenith of his glory exerting his power for good to the utmost when Abraham Lincoln's proclamation shook the land.

The clear call of Virginia was heard. Lieutenant Maury, with Colonel Robert E. Lee and a band of heroes, resolutely answered the call of their Mother State.

In 1822 the Confederate government appointed Commander Maury chief of coast, harbor and river defense. He assisted in fitting out the Merrimack, and was sent to England to gather material for torpedo defense of the south Atlantic and equipped armed cruisers while abroad. The United States might fix a price on his head, but no offer could tempt him to swerve from his loyalty.

The disabilities of Commodore Maury being removed in 1883 he returned to Virginia; various offers of employment were made to him, but all declined in favor of the chair of physics at the Virginia Military Institute, in Lexington, he and General Lee laid down the sword and staff of office and took up the task of educating the youth of Virginia.

GROCER'S WIFE SUES REALTY CLUB WOMAN

Took Him on Auto Rides and He Wooed With Groceries, Are Allegations.

DETROIT, June 10.—For twenty years Marie von Mehren lived happily with her husband, Paul. They were plain folk—he a grocer, she a housewife, industrious, frugal and all the rest of it.

Then Frances Keusch, unmarried, wealthy, cultured and a clubwoman, came into their lives.

Now Mrs. von Mehren is suing for divorce in Detroit, and also demanding $25,000 damages from Mrs. Keusch for the alienation of her husband's affections.

Plot, Says Mrs. Keusch.

Mrs. Keusch says she is known von Mehren six or seven years, charges she was seduced after she refused to pay $10,000 settlement. She emphatically denies her acquaintance with von Mehren had been improper.

Mrs. von Mehren declared her husband had kept company with Miss Keusch four years.

"My daughter, and I solved the mystery by trailing my husband time after time," declared Mrs. von Mehren, who says the suit is the cruel anti-climax to twenty years of wedded happiness.

"I had not been guilty of any wrong and I refused to settle," said Mrs. Keusch. "It is easy to cast suspicion on a person, to say all manner of unkind things about him. Mr. and Mrs. von Mehren have dragged my name into a scandal, but in the end I shall be vindicated."

Merely a Menial.

At no time was she in love with von Mehren, Miss Keusch asserted. "He came to my apartment on divers occasions in the capacity of a menial—never as a man for whom I had platonic or other affection or regard," the lawyer went on.

He was, so far as she was concerned, a menial, illiterate, vulgar, I never even liked him. But he was a good servant, most adept at scrubbing floors, etc. I certainly could have nothing in common with von Mehren.

A Hired Man.

"I came to know him on my return from St. Louis, where I attended the world's fair. I injured a knee when I fell from a horse, and was unable to care for my apartment. I knew von Mehren as a grocer's clerk. I knew he needed money, so I hired him to do some of the rougher household work. He never stayed at the apartment for long periods."

"Yes, I did ride with him in my automobile—but he was not my guest. He was the chauffeur. The charge, made by his wife, that I entertained him is ridiculous; that she had seduced him from him, equally ridiculous. I paid for all groceries."

The air of the studio pervades Miss Keusch's apartment. Paintings in oil, her own work, are on the walls—magnificent and other flowers, landscapes, portraits, beautifully decorated china, also her own handwork, fill cabinets. Fine rugs are on the floor. Indeed, the apartment is a symbol of culture and good taste.

The Wife's Story.

Quite different was the story told by Mrs. von Mehren. She declared that her husband and Miss Keusch had kept company for more than four years, attending theaters and taking long rides together in the von Mehren automobile.

Her surrender came after twenty years of married happiness, she declared—years of struggle that she and her husband might own their own home and educate the daughter who recently was killed in an automobile accident.

TWO PAST 70 MAY RUN FOR GOVERNOR

Alf Taylor and Benton McMillan Are Probable Contenders in Tennessee.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 10.—When Tennessee voters go to the polls next fall to elect a governor it is very probable that their choice will lie between two candidates whose combined ages total 150 years. The two veterans are:

Gov. Alf A. Taylor, seventy-three, who intends to make the race for re-election on the Republican ticket.

Ex-Gov. Benton McMillan, seventy-seven, who is considered as the most likely aspirant for the Democratic nomination.

Governor Taylor has been active in Tennessee politics for fifty years, having served several terms in Congress. Thirty years ago he made the race for governor against his brother, the late Senator Robert L. Taylor, a Democrat, and was defeated.

The two brothers, representing rival parties, stumped the State on a joint speaking tour that will never be forgotten in Tennessee. Ex-Governor McMillan began the practice of law in 1871, and except for a few brief intervals he has been active in politics since that time. He served as a member of Congress prior to his election as governor in 1899 and more recently he was American minister to Peru.

SPENT HALF HER TIME IN BED

Farmer's Wife Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a Well Woman

Carter's Creek, Tenn.—"Three years ago I was almost an invalid. I spent half of my time in bed, being afflicted with a trouble which women of a certain age are apt to have. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a well woman now and have been for two years. I can work as well as any one who is younger and as I am a farmer's wife I have plenty to do for I cultivate my own garden, raise many chickens and do my own housework. You may publish this letter as I am ready to do anything to help women as I have been so well and happy since my troubles are past."—Mrs. E. T. Galloway, Carter's Creek, Tenn.

Most women find plenty to do. If they are upset with some female ailment and troubled with such symptoms as Mrs. Galloway had, the smallest duty seems a mountain.

If you find it hard to keep up, if you are nervous and irritable, without ambition and out of sorts generally, give the Vegetable Compound a trial.

JAP OFFICIALS SCOUT IDEA OF WAR WITH U. S.

Nations Becoming More Friendly, Yamazaki Says At Honolulu.

By International News Service. HONOLULU, Hawaii, June 10.—Talk of war between the United States and Japan is scouted by Kei-ichi Yamazaki, consul general for Japan at Honolulu, in his first public statement made since his arrival in Honolulu.

Consul General Yamazaki asserts that neither the United States nor his own country can afford to go to war and, furthermore, that the commercial interests of the two countries, instead of being opposed, are interlocking and should tend to bind Japan and America together.

The Japanese consul general took occasion to state that Japan will never consider intervening in China to restore order or to attempt to set up a stable form of government. The only possibility of Japanese intervention in China, Yamazaki states, would be for protection of Japanese lives or property in the event of an outbreak similar to the Boxer uprising.

Statements reported to have been made by Koreans and Korean sympathizers accusing the Japanese government of practicing atrocities in Korea were refuted in toto by Yamazaki, who stated that the Koreans had been and were being given every opportunity to have a voice in governing their country. Hard feelings between the two nations have been fostered by ill-adviced Korean hot-heads, Yamazaki believes, and the assassination of several Japanese officials in Korea as a means of securing revenge for fancied wrongs has kept hatred aflame between the two peoples.

Argentine Officials Break Sartorial Rule.

BUENOS AIRES, June 10.—Full dress clothes in broad daylight are in accordance with the Argentine policy of "diplomatic simplicity," which taboos silk knee breeches for high civilian functionaries, it was noted when John Wallace Riddle, the new American Ambassador, presented his credentials to President Yrigoyen at Casa Rosada.

Argentine State etiquette insists that even at morning functions the President and his Ministers shall wear full evening dress.

Sage Tea Turns Gray Hair Dark

GRANDMOTHER kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By moving the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

BAD COUGHS, BRONCHIAL AND ASTHMA ATTACKS EASY TO STOP

When Throat, Bronchial Tube Muscles Tighten and Cough Spasms Start

HERE IS SIMPLE, QUICK-ACTING HOME REMEDY

The writer has woke up at night with a coughing spasm that wouldn't stop. Some said it was bronchitis and others said it was asthma and others said it was simply a bad catarrhal cough. Whatever it was it nearly drove me crazy on many nights. Then it would go away for a few days and come back again. I called the doctor—I took all the syrups and fancy mixtures—tried cough drops and lozenges, but nothing helped me.

Then I heard the Germans had found a powder that would soothe and relax those throat, bronchial tubes and lung muscles that gave me those awful wheezing, short breath coughing spells. Then I heard American chemists had found the secret and I am passing along the good word to folks who suffer now like I once did.

"I got a bottle of Adams' Wonder Capsules. The first night I was coughing like a fool. I took two capsules with a swallow of water and waited for results. In about 15 minutes it seemed like my throat was loosening up. It might have been imagination, but the cough stopped and I slept like a top the whole night through. The next night I took a couple before going to bed. It worked like a charm. The next night I did the same thing. Nowadays I never cough—either night or day. My voice is better and that cough that I spent hundreds of dollars on has gone for good. You can take them right in the midst of the worst coughing and wheezing spasm you ever had or when you get short of breath and have to "heave" up in bed to breathe—and by jingling in about fifteen minutes a couple doses of Adams' Wonder Capsules have stopped all the worry completely.

"You can swallow a whole bottle full of the capsules at a time if you want to because they are harmless. There is no monkey business about the way they do the work and now the Peoples Drug Stores here in Washington are selling Adams' Wonder Capsules on the most astounding unheard-of guarantee ever printed. They say—If three doses fail to stop your cough, whooping cough spasms, hicoughs, asthma or bronchial attack then return balance of bottle and get your money. Nothing could be fairer than that. Of course, I suppose there are people who really should double the dose and take four or five doses the first time to get relief from a chronic case, but they tell me that out of thousands of bottles sold, not one has failed to bring results or people failed to test them thoroughly and come back for their money in only about one hundred cases—which shows what a really wonderful remedy they are."

Notes: Mrs. Gene Case, the noted health advocate, is conducting a daily demonstration on Adams' Wonder Capsules this week at the Peoples Drug Store No. 4, corner Seventh and M streets northwest. Anyone wishing to know more about them should surely see her. There is no obligation. She is helping scores of people each day with her talk, or get a bottle of Adams' Capsules at nearest Peoples Drug Store on above guarantee. Mail orders prepaid anywhere, one dollar.
